

Forgotten Account Password for App

This chart depicts the execution flow of the project should the user forget their credentials for the app.

A forgotten gesture can be handled by first conducting this process (assuming the user has lost both their gesture and their account password) and then change their gesture via the route described in the CRUD Flow Diagram.

The flow is fairly typical for a password reset system. This chart is more for brevity than explanation.

